Recovery (if self-disclosed): Addiction and alcoholism are medical conditions, protected from discrimination under the Americans with Disabilities Act as Amended, Oregon disability laws, and other laws. OnTrack does not ask applicants or employees if they suffer from alcoholism or addiction or are currently in recovery. However, as a provider of recovery support services, we believe alcoholics or addicts in recovery are often the best mentors for others still struggling, and we prefer to hire qualified individuals in recovery for direct client contact positions. On the other hand, the early stages of recovery are subject to frequent relapse and uncertainty, which would make hiring an individual in the early stages of recovery inconsistent with our mission, and would likely make the individual unable to effectively perform the essential functions of any position that involves direct client contact. Therefore, if an applicant or employee discloses a history of addiction, and the position involves direct client contact, we do require the individual to confirm that he or she has been in recovery for a minimum of two years.
